

I just wanted to let you know how much the telephone privacy law has improved my time at home. We were recieving about twenty calls a week from telemarketers. After signing up for the no call list the calls have almost stoped and when you tell the ones that do call that you are on Indiana's no call list theu usually end the call fast. These calls were not only annoying but most times the caller became rude and and you practicly had to hang up on them after telling them you weren't interested. Please don't start them calling again. Thank you
